

2012 Force Majeure Collaboration Series III

The 2012 Collaboration Series III is flat-out awesome and checked in at the top of the barrel review from last year. Made by Mike MacMorran (and the estate's new winemaker, Todd Alexander) and the estate's take on Red Mountain Syrah, it gives up classic pepper, blackcurrants, smoked meats and crushed rock to go with a full-bodied, layered, multidimensional, pure and seamless style on the palate. This beauty doesn't put a foot wrong, and with more time in the glass, shows more and more structure. Give it 3-4 years in the cellar and enjoy bottles through 2032.
